Set within a designated conservation area in the historic heart of the village, The Old Post Office is a beautifully upgraded heritage home that perfectly pairs timeless character charm with state-of-the-art eco-credentials. Meticulously overhauled from top to bottom by the current owners, the property has been future-proofed with a brand-new roof and upgraded insulation, high-specification external insulation wrapped in fresh rendering, and all-new guttering.

The home boasts an incredibly efficient, brand-new air source heat pump powering a full new central heating and hot water system (including an immersion heater), working alongside a solar panel system with integrated battery storage. It is truly a residence where no one would change a thing.

The surprisingly spacious accommodation has been completely redecorated and features brand-new flooring stretching across the entire ground floor. The layout centres around a spectacular, open-plan kitchen and dining room. Newly installed with high-quality fittings, this social hub features a central island, a classic Belfast sink, and premium integrated appliances—including a five-ring Siemens ceramic hob, eye-level double oven, a Bosch dishwasher, a fridge-freezer, and an integrated washing machine.

To the rear, the welcoming sitting room features double doors opening directly onto the garden, seamlessly bridging the gap between indoor comfort and outdoor relaxation. Completing the ground floor layout is a practical rear lobby giving access to a newly fitted, stylish downstairs cloakroom and toilet.

Heading upstairs via newly carpeted stairs, the property continues to impress. The entire first floor features brand-new carpeting and fresh decoration. The principal bedroom suite is a grand sanctuary offering ample space for a super king bed, a newly installed configuration of built-in wardrobes, and a luxurious, newly refitted en-suite shower room. The bedroom window frames an exceptional, elevated aspect over the garden and across to the wooded slopes on the opposite side of the valley.

The second bedroom is also a generous size, accommodating a king-size bed, and benefits from its own newly refitted private en-suite, while the third bedroom comfortably accommodates a double bed. Serving the first floor is the main family bathroom, which has been beautifully refurbished to a high standard, featuring a modern bath with a thermostatic overhead rainfall shower.

The outdoor spaces have been entirely transformed and re-engineered. The driveway was fully excavated and re-laid, with all below-ground pipework completely replaced, including the installation of a dedicated soakaway system under the lawn for flawless drainage.

The private rear garden has been fully re-landscaped with all-new fencing, a feature pergola, raised flower beds, and an expansive new patio perfect for entertaining. Positioned west-facing to capture the afternoon and evening sun, it enjoys an open southerly aspect looking down the Exe Valley, with a secluded, raised timber deck positioned to take in the views. Tucked within the garden is a substantial, detached garden room benefiting from an internal toilet, shower cubicle, and French doors—offering outstanding flexibility as a high-end home office or independent guest accommodation.

Bickleigh has long been one of the Exe Valley's most sought-after villages, celebrated for its picture-postcard thatched cottages, a well-regarded local primary school, and a popular riverside pub positioned right alongside the historic stone bridge. The area is a paradise for walkers and outdoor enthusiasts, crisscrossed with beautiful footpaths providing fantastic walks right from your doorstep towards the peaceful neighbouring village of Butterleigh.

The location balances rural tranquillity with superb connectivity, sitting just a few miles south of Tiverton's market town amenities, schooling, and transport links (including Tiverton Parkway station), with effortless access to the cathedral city of Exeter to the south.
