SITUATION

Set in the quiet Harcombe Valley above the hamlet, of Harcombe the woodland nestled within East Devon's National Landscape (formerly known as an Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty), surrounded by rolling countryside and picturesque views.

Just over three miles away lies the charming coastal town of Sidmouth, part of the UNESCO World Heritage designated Jurassic Coast. Sidmouth is renowned for its esplanade, sandy beaches, and public gardens. The town also offers an excellent range of independent shops, everyday amenities, and leisure facilities, including a swimming pool, sailing club, and thriving cricket, tennis, and croquet clubs.

DESCRIPTION

This wonderful area of woodland is set on the edge of what was known as Harcombe Great Coppice, part of a larger mixed woodland.

The land is bordered by the access track to the South East gently sloping down towards and including a stream along the north western boundary, a historic hedge bank forms the eastern boundary, with marker posts to the south west beyond a small stream.

The woodland is naturalised mature woodland, gently opened up in places with numerous small paths the woodland is a wonderful quiet place to be with tall trees including birch, oak, ash and beech forming the canopy whilst underneath species such as rowan, holly and hazel form a shrub layer.

In all the woodland extends to 2.347 acres (0.95 ha)

ACCESS

A stoned access track leads to Beer Head
