SITUATION

Occupying a rural yet accessible position, the property enjoys excellent connectivity, with the A30 at Chiverton Cross located less than a mile away. The thriving village of Blackwater is just over a mile distant and offers a range of everyday amenities including a public house and community facilities.

Blackwater is conveniently situated approximately 7 miles west of Truro and around 3 miles from the popular coastal village of St Agnes and the stunning North Cornish coastline. The cathedral city of Truro provides a comprehensive range of amenities, including an excellent selection of shops, schools, restaurants and leisure facilities, together with a mainline railway station offering connections to London Paddington.

DESCRIPTION

This versatile property, ripe for modernisation, was originally constructed as a single detached bungalow and has, over time, been adapted to create two semi-detached bungalows by closing off an internal connecting doorway. The larger of the two provides well-proportioned accommodation comprising a kitchen, spacious sitting/dining room enjoying attractive views across the surrounding land, three bedrooms and a family bathroom.

The adjoining self-contained ancillary accommodation offers excellent flexibility and includes a kitchen, sitting room, garden room, double bedroom and shower room, making it well suited to multi-generational living, dependent relatives, guest accommodation or potential rental use (subject to any necessary consents).

An internal hallway, now utilised as a useful storage area, originally formed the link between the two properties. Subject to any necessary consents, the blocked doorway could be reopened, allowing the accommodation to be reinstated as a single detached dwelling should a purchaser so wish.

OUTSIDE

The property is exceptionally well suited to those seeking a home with excellent equestrian facilities. A comprehensive range of outbuildings, that would benefit from refurbishment, include a number of stables, a tack room, feed store, general storage and a substantial multi-purpose barn, offering excellent versatility. The main bungalow and annexe each benefit from their own private lawned garden areas, providing clearly defined outdoor spaces. The land extends to the south and west of the property and comprises two gently sloping pasture paddocks, which the bungalow enjoys a view over.

In all, the property extends to approximately 6.00 acres.
