SITUATION

Widecombe-in-the-Moor provides a range of convenient shops and pubs, a post office, church, and a primary school. Widecombe Valley is renowned for its spectacular scenery including open moorland, ancient tors and wooded valleys.

There are many opportunities locally for walking, riding and fishing, yet good accessibility, via the moorland town of Bovey Tracey, to the A38 dual carriageway. This leads east to the university and cathedral city of Exeter where there is access onto the M5 motorway, mainline rail connections to London and an international airport.

DESCRIPTION

This superb block of pasture land is situated on the outskirts of Widecombe-In-The-Moor. Split into 5 pasture paddocks and offering suitable grazing land they are bordered by Devon banks and hedging with gateways connecting each paddock. In the most north-easterly paddock, in its north-western corner, is a timber stable block built in the early 2010's, with four stables. The stables are built to a high standard and stand on a spacious concrete yard, offering excellent functionality and ease of maintenance. There is direct road access into four of the five paddocks accessed via metal five-bar gates.

SERVICES

A mains water supply is connected to the site supplying two water troughs including a trough adjacent to the stable block. In addition, there is a natural supply of running water through the lower meadow.

PLANNING

Planning permission was granted in 2009 for the replacements stables. A condition of the usage for the stables was that they shall be used for private use only, with no business or trade carried out from them. For more information please contact the agents.
